Kent. M. Williams

Attorney

Kent M. Williams has over 30 years of experience representing large classes of consumers, employees, and small businesses in antitrust, wage and hour, consumer fraud, data breach, privacy, employment discrimination, securities fraud, trespass, and product liability lawsuits.

Mr. Williams received his J.D. magna cum laude with legal writing honors from the University of Minnesota in 1991, where he was published in the University of Minnesota Law Review and competed against other law schools as a member of Minnesota's Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition Team.

After a summer internship with Jenner & Block in Chicago, Mr. Williams decided to remain in the Twin Cities, where he joined Dorsey & Whitney, one of the largest firms in the Midwest. After a few months, Mr. Williams yearned for more "hands on" experience, so he moved to Opperman Heins & Paquin (now known as Lockridge Grindal Nauen PLLP), a class action boutique where he was responsible for a variety of class and non-class matters. One of his most memorable experiences at OHP was coordinating the successful defense of the late Dr. John S. Najarian, a renowned surgeon who was accused by the Food and Drug Administration of illegally marketing and selling Minnesota antilymphocyte globulin ("MALG"), an anti-rejection drug that Dr. Najarian had developed into what became the immunosuppressive "gold standard" for transplant surgery.

In 1994, Mr. Williams and four other attorneys formed a new class action firm, Heins Mills & Olson, P.L.C. His practice expanded to include class actions against major manufacturers of infant formula, industrial diamonds, hearing aids, polybutylene pipe, synthetic stucco, and other products. He advocated fiercely for consumers in antitrust cases, winning one of the first-ever contested indirect purchaser class certifications in the country, as well as an appellate court victory in North Carolina that established a private right of action for indirect purchasers in that state. Mr. Williams also represented landowners in class actions alleging trespass against railroads and telecommunications companies for burying fiber optic cable on private property without permission.

SG

A firm believer that “variety is the spice of life,” in the mid-2000s, Mr. Williams decided to open a solo practice that allowed him to branch out into other areas of the law, while continuing to represent plaintiffs in class actions and other complex commercial matters. Over the next twenty years, Mr. Williams successfully handled a diversity of probate, family law, land-use, administrative law, criminal law, and employment law matters. During that same time period, he served as trial and/or lead counsel in a number of behemoth class actions brought against Big Pharma, Microsoft, and other large corporations. Mr. Williams is recognized as one of the first lawyers in the country to wage mass arbitration “guerilla warfare” (in the words of one legal commentator) by bringing hundreds of individual wage-and-hour arbitrations against a large, well-known restaurant chain.

More recently, Mr. Williams has expanded his practice to include consumer privacy litigation. He manages the Firm’s genetic and biogenetic information privacy litigation group, and he serves as class counsel in a number of privacy cases, including one brought against a well-known online healthcare company. At the same time, Mr. Williams continues to advocate for consumers victimized by price-fixing, monopolization, securities fraud, financial fraud, and other unlawful schemes.
